Revised: 09/2010

A major in Italian gives students at the University of Pittsburgh the opportunity to study in detail a foreign language and to acquire an education in a literary and cultural tradition central to the humanities. Studying Italian language, literature, and culture prepares students for graduate study in law and international affairs, advanced work in the humanities, and careers in business, governmental service, and teaching. The University is committed to international study, and students are encouraged to take advantage of the numerous study abroad opportunities available to them. Students can combine a major in Italian with a second major in a field such as political science, history, history of art and architecture, English, business, or another foreign language. Students who choose to study the linguistic, literary, cinematographic, and cultural traditions of Italy will acquire an invaluable technical resource and an in-depth knowledge of a diverse and foundational intellectual tradition. Required courses for the Italian Language and Literature major

After one year of college instruction in the Italian language (ITAL 0001 and ITAL 0002, or the equivalent as determined by the results of a placement test administered within the Department of French and Italian), Italian majors may enroll in ITAL 0003 for credit toward the major.

The Italian language and literature major requires the completion of 33 credits beyond elementary Italian language, distributed as follows.

Core course
ITAL 0003 Intermediate Italian 1
ITAL 0004 Intermediate Italian 2
ITAL 0055 Italian Conversation and Culture
ITAL 0080 Italian Cultural Heritage 1
ITAL 0081 Italian Cultural Heritage 2

Note: Because ITAL 0080 and ITAL 0081 have no prerequisites and are taught in English, it is recommended that students interested in majoring in Italian take those courses as early in their studies as possible.

One of the following W courses
ITAL 0060 Literary Italian 1
ITAL 0061 Literary Italian 2
ITAL 1041 Italian Theatrical Workshop

Five 1000-level electives, at least three of which must be taught in Italian. No more than two of these courses may be taught in English.

Grade requirements: A minimum GPA of 2.0 in departmental courses is required for graduation.

Satisfactory/No Credit option: Courses taken on an S/NC basis may not be applied toward the Italian major or minor. Students deciding to pursue an Italian major or minor after selecting this option for a departmental course should consult with the departmental advisor.

Writing (W) requirement: Students must complete one W-course in the major. ITAL 0060, ITAL 0061, and ITAL 1041 are always offered as W courses.

Related area: A minimum of 12 credits is required in any one Arts and Sciences department chosen in consultation with the major advisor or in a cluster of courses approved by your advisor. The completion of an official Arts and Sciences minor or an Arts and Sciences or UCIS certificate also satisfies this requirement.

Honors major requirements: To earn departmental honors in Italian, students must demonstrate superior performance in departmental courses and be enrolled in 1000-level Italian courses, preferably no later than the first term of their junior year. Selection of honors candidates takes place in the second term of students’ junior year. To qualify for departmental honors, students must complete and present a research paper. Work on this project customarily takes place over three terms:

1. topic selection and preparatory work with faculty advisor during the summer before the senior year;
2. research and writing during the fall term;
3. revision and presentation of the thesis before a faculty committee in the spring.

Honors will be determined by the quality of the paper and the presentation, as well as the cumulative grades in all departmental courses counting toward the major.

Language study: Reading competency in at least one other foreign language is recommended for those students planning to do graduate study in Italian.

Study abroad: Students are strongly encouraged to add an international dimension to their undergraduate education by studying abroad. By participating in a study abroad program, students can earn credits toward the major as well as general education requirements. Please contact Francesca Savoia in the Italian program for guidance in choosing the most appropriate program. Students should choose a study abroad program, keeping in mind their specific program of study and other factors such as location, cost, level of immersion, and internship opportunities.
