

---

The University of Pittsburgh Department of French and Italian presents the 2012 Nicholas C. Tucci Lecture

---

Heirs of a Dark Wood

The Principles and Poetics of Dante's Reception

October 18, 2012

5:00 pm

CL 332

Professor Joseph Luzzi

Joseph Luzzi is Associate Professor of Italian and Director of Italian Studies, and Co-Director of the first year seminar program at Bard College. He received his Ph.D. in Italian Literature from Yale university in 2000. Since then he has written a book, Romantic Europe and the Ghost of Italy, which has received the Scaglione Prize for Italian Studies from the Modern Language Association of America in 2009. He has also published reviews in the Los Angeles Times Book Review

Co-sponsored by the Program in Medieval and Renaissance Studies and the Humanities Center

For more information, check our website:
www.frenchanditalian.pitt.edu